Welcome to Appomattox and the 1982 Virginia Farm Management Tour

Appomattox County has been honored by the state's agricultural community in being chosen as the county to host the 1982 Virginia Farm Management Tour.

Appomattox, where our nation was reunited at the end of the Civil War, is a bustling rural community in the geographical heart of the Old Dominion.

The farming operations featured on this year's Farm Management Tour are of the type which form the backbone of rural America's economy.

These farms are small to average in size, and the owners are directly involved in the day-to-day operations of their businesses. From milking cows to maintaining financial records, these farmers are working men and women who depend on themselves and their families for the success of their farms.

And, as any small-business owner knows, essential to the continued success of these farms are fine-tuned, progressive management techniques. These techniques are the focal point of the 1982 Virginia Farm Management Tour.

For your convenience, a map of the county and directions to the six tour farms are provided on page 18 of this special issue.

Tour Routes wil be well-marked with orange and black signs placed at strategic locations throughout the county. Information booths will be manned throughout the day at Big Horn Market in Concord (intersection of U. S. 460 and State Route 24, west of town of Appomattox); at Farmers National Bank (Triangle Plaza, in town of Appomattox); and at Pamplin Exxon near Pamplin (U. S. 460, east of town of Appomattox).

On tour day, questions should be directed to tour aides who will be wearing specially designed blue and gray caps imprinted with the Farm Management Tour logo.

Lunch will be served at two of the farm tour stops from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m.:

Wildwood Farm–Stop No. 1
Hix Brothers Dairy–Stop No. 4

Cost of each catered meal will be $3 and will include both a hamburger and a hot dog, baked beans, potato salad, cole slaw and a drink.

The host families of this year's Farm Management Tour, and the agricultural community in general welcome you to the tour on July 17.
